

A River from Above

Oh I am just a river, a river from above
Trying to watch over you and cradle you in love

The oceans are filled with tears
From every soul that's here and gone
I'm your Mothers hands
Around your fingers inside your Fathers' palm

Don't worry dear and do not fear
You haven't seen it all, I'm the childrens' smile
Your best friends laugh
I'm the clock up on your wall

Oh I am just a river, a river from above
Trying to wash over you and cover you in love

Your seasons are not divided
Like calendars down the the hall
They rendezvous on glens of time
Shooting stars at the sky and moon

Spring down from mountains valley
Spring up from duties chore
Gaze upon these blades of grass
Like a butterfly in the snow

Oh I am just a river, a river from above
Trying to watch over you and cradle you in love

Memories wash you over
Deep up from bottom's floor
Where teardrops fell, you filled me up
Like pebbles on the shore

Let fortune's fate follow fools
On governments made of sand
Let your heart see fit above all of it
When you understand

Oh I am not a river, a river from above
All I am is your friend, all I am is love
